

Help build the “Teach with PhET” website and improve science and math literacy worldwide

About PhET:

PhET Interactive Simulations (<http://phet.colorado.edu>) is changing the way science and math are taught and learned.

Since 2002, PhET has created 125 award-winning simulations that are education research proven, fun and engaging—and made them all available for free online.

Reaching students and teachers around the world, the simulations are used over 45 million times per year, in over 200 countries and territories, and 75 languages.

About the “Teach with PhET” project:

The new “Teach with PhET” website will help teachers—in neighborhood schools around the world—transform how students learn science and math.

“Teach with PhET” will help teachers effectively find and choose simulations, design lessons, write activities, and troubleshoot issues. And, it will provide a place where the teaching community can share ideas and learn from each other—across the globe.

So if you're an educator, parent, student, STEM education supporter, company, or foundation, please consider helping PhET build “Teach with PhET.”

Your donation will:

- Build the “Teach with PhET” website on the latest technology and server systems resulting in fast, reliable access for all teachers.
- Enable smart searches of simulations and activities based on keywords, curriculum and grade levels.
- Provide “how to” videos and curriculum alignment guides that will illustrate effective ways to teach with the simulations.
- Build a My PhET space so teachers can bookmark, tag and organize their resources for their classes.
- Enable teachers to help other teachers by sharing their lessons and activities, providing reviews and recommendations, and participating in discussion forums.
- And more...
