

If you would like the key to this activity send an email with information I can use to verify that you are a teacher to danburns22222@gmail. This activity is based on one I posted for the old version of My Solar System. It was used by hundreds of teachers for many years. The answers eventually were easy to find online. I suspect that will happen again even with this precaution with the key. The best way to reduce this problem is schedule time in class for students to do this activity in groups. If you must assign it for homework or distance learning I suggest you modify some of the activities with slightly different numbers. Changing the maximum radius in Activity 5 from 8 AU to something slightly more or less would be easy.
